The Kentucky Horror-Capture of the Murderers of the Gibbons Children-A Sickening Confession. ASHLAND (Ky.), January 3d.—Arrests have been made of the persons believed to be the murderers of the Gibbons children, the arrest being brought about by the confession of one of their number. All live in Ashland, and two are married men. They are in Catletts-burg jail. Lynching is expected to-night.

ISECOND DISPATCH.] CINCINNATI, January 3d.—The Commer-cial's Ashland, Ky., special says: The men arrested for the Gibbons murder are William Neal, Ellis Craft and George Ellis, all white. George Ellis confessed to the Constable, saying that Craft and Neal awakened him on the night of the murder and urged him to go with them to Gibbons' house. He went reluctantly. They entered a window, and Neal and Craft outraged the two girls. Emma Thomas recognized Craft, and said she would tell her mother. Robert, the boy, was then about to give the alarm, when Craft struck him on the head with an ax, killing him instantly. Craft then told Annie that her time to die had come, and amid the piteous cries of the child for mercy he struck her on the head and killed her instantly. Neal then killed Emma Thomas in the same way. Craft and Neal at first denied Ellis' story, but Neal confessed this afternoon, and Ellis and Neal waived examination. Ellis and Neal are married, but Craft is single. They all were present at the funeral, and one drove the hearse and another was pall bearer.

St. Louis, January 4th.—The southern section of Montgomery county is mostly a wild and hilly country, and during the last two or three years has been inhabited in part by reckless and law-defying young men, among them the Days, the King boys and others, who all, without regard as to who have been the most guilty or most wrong are chiefts. who all, without regard as to who have been the most guilty or most wrong, are objects of intense hatred upon the part of law-abiding people. The King boys consist of John, Tom, Joe and Abby King. Upon the night of the 29th ult, the three first-named King boys went to the house of Mr. Nelson, four miles from Americus a romantic, little village eleging. Americus, a romantic little village sleeping on a beautiful stream among the hills—the Nelsons claim for the purpose of robbery, and the Kings denying it. At any rate trouble soon began, and ended disastrously for the Kings. The windows of Nelson's house were broken, one of the King boys was wounded, and another started across the dark river with his boots on. A post mortem was held by Squire Muehl, and young Nelson, who did the killing, was justified. The dead body was borne to the cabin of the Kings, south of Americus, the next day, for burial. His cabin is occupied by old man King, two of the boys' wives and their mother, Mrs. Austin. About 6 c'clock that night a band of citizens, bent on destruction, rode up to the Americus, a romantic little village sleeping yards, when one citizen denoerately took aim and firing mortally wounded one of the fugitives, who fell. Deputy Milton seized the opportunity, broke loose and ran. A general fusilade was now exchanged between the citizens and the escaping prisoners. The latter of citizens, bent on destruction, rode up to the cabin and made an assault. Old Mrs. King and Mrs. Austin ran out, when Mrs. King and Mrs. Austin ran out, when Mrs. King was wounded and Mrs. Austin shot dead. Another of the King boys was crippled, and still another, perhaps, is dead. During the frightful tragedy old Mrs. King, although wounded, thought of sending her youngest boy Abby away to the village for a coffin and winding sheet, and she ged to receive the contraction. winding sheet, and she sped toward him. Sargent and the Cabinet. New York, January 4th.—The Sun has three-quarters of a column of Washington gossip this morning, from which your correspondent can gain the following as to Sargent: There is only one opinion, and that is that the President has determined to take him into the Cabinet. A letter has been shown to a good many members which strengthens this belief. It was written by a shrewd New York stalwart, who ought to know if anybody does. In it he says that after a discussion with his friends the Presi-dent has determined to nominate Sargent; but that he is still undecided whether to tender him the Navy or Interior Depart-ment. There was no difference of opinion among the friends of the President about the appointment. It was fully recognized that it would be very severely criticised, but the President, they say, knew perfectly well that a faction in the party was preparing to attack him whatever his course, and whether he nominated Sargent or not would make no difference. CHICAGO, January 4th.—A special from Washington says: A Pacific coast Senator said to-day that he thought neither candidates for the Cabinet from Colorado would receive the appointment, and he believed that the chances were now in favor of Sargent. Logan, however, is understood to be pushing the claims of ex Sanator Chafe for the Interior Department. It is understood that the two gentlemen established very close relations with each other in New York during the summer. General Beale told a friend yesterday that he had never been spoken to in reductions to the New York during the summer. gard to the Navy portfolio, and all he knew about it was what he had seen in the papers. CHICAGO, January 4th.—A Tribune editorial says: If it is desirable that California shall be represented in the Cabinet, no man can be more suitable for the appointment from that State than Horace Davis, of San Francisco. He served two terms in Congress, and was a warm friend of the late President, He was true to his party, and was elected to Congress in September, 1879, when Aaron A. Sargent was a bolter, and did his best to break down the party organization in that State. Mr. Davis was defeated for election in 1880 by Rosecrans, and the result was largely due to the forged Chinese letter and the known friendship of the Republican candidate. lidate for Congress for General Garfield, the supposed author of the letter. [SPECIAL BY TELEGRAPH TO THE RECORD-UNION.]

WASHINGTON, January 4th .- Guiteau kept quiet to day and made a merit of it in his Scoville made an affidavit setting forth that he has been unable to assist or suggest any witnesses, and that the counsel since the closing of the case has learned of certain the year 1864, and came to the conclusion material witnesses. He gave their names and what he would prove.

Corkhill said that nothing need be said on the motion to introduce this evidence. Colonel Reed addressed the Court in favor of the motion. He felt sure that the American people would not begrudge this justice.

He glowingly complimented Scoville. Davidge denied that there was any prece-

SCOVILLE'S ARGUMENT.

Scoville replied at great length, and detailed the hardships and difficulties under which the defense had labored in the preparation of their case. It was almost impossible to get witnesses to come here. The experts or the defense were compelled to be satisfied with $1 25 per diem, the regular witness fee; while those for the Government came here, it is supposed, leaving great trusts behind them, and remained for six weeks, and every one of them plainly showed by their evidence that they expected full pay for their services, and all know what that meant. And these experts, said Scoville, are still waiting here to see the result of their evidence in hanging this prisoner, but fortunately for the cause of jusice, your Honor, this jury stand between him and the gallows. OBJECTIONS OF THE PROSECUTION. Colonel Corkhill could not at this stage allow the remarks of the counsel to go unan-swered. He said yesterday, and would repeat to-day, that he would not object to the introduction of any new facts material to the defense. The only objection to be made by the prosecution had already been mentioned by Davidge. There had never been a time in this District where so much liberty had been shown by the Government. GUITEAU'S STATEMENT. Guiteau insisted on being heard. The Bailiff tried to silence him, but was met with: "Let me alone, or I will slap you in Guiteau called out: "Your Honor, all I nse came here a stranger to the Courts of the District, and even to the prisoner him-self, and found himself environed with difficulties from the outset. The most serious difficulty was that the odium attaching to the assassination made witnesses unwilling even to allow their names to be known to the defense. Appreciating all these difficulties which embarrassed the defense, he (Judge Cox) had felt disposed to offset this with an equal latitude and a more than ordinary fairtheir own bows, and go to the bottom like o'clock this morning a shock of earthquake was felt here, but did no damage. It was offered in surrebuttal. In his opinion the offered in surrebuttal. In his opinion the proof of insanity should be limited to the evidence in chief of the deferse and the rebutting evidence of the prosecution. He, slight, merely rattling loose windows and therefore, must exclude the evidence of Dr. McFarland, who Scoville said would testify to the prisoner's insanity. The testimony, however, of these witnesses, by which the defense expected to prove that the prisoner asserted upon the day of the assassination, and upon the day after, the motive for his act, the Court held should be admitted as evidence in surrebuttal.

FURTHER TESTIMONY. J. J. Brooks, Chief of the Treasury Secret Service, was called by Scoville. He visited the prisoner the night of the shooting. Guiteau was very angry at witness for disturbing his rest at night. Witness reproved him as a murderer, and the prisoner said, "No murderer, but a Christian gentleman; the act was a political necessity for the good of the country," and that witness being a "No murderer, but a Christian gentleman; the act was a political necessity for the good of the country," and that witness, being a store or any ther job in town. Apply to KEN. stalwart, could appreciate why he did it; that he had thought over and prayed over the matter for six weeks, and became conthat the prisoner was insane.

Guiteau sneeringly and insultiogly reproved Scoville for producing this letter, and said he could get plenty of experts to testify that he was as crazy as a loon, but he would not give a cent for a bucketful of expert tes-Dr. Beard was called, but was ruled out, and an exception noted.

Scoville said he would like a little time for proper preparation of this part of the case. LAW POINTS OF THE PROSECUTION. Davidge said the prosecution had already prepared their statement of the law points upon which they would rely, and he would be pleased to give the defense the benefit of them. He then read as follows:

First—The legal test of responsibility, where insanity is set up as a defense, is whether the accused, at the time of committing the act alleged, knew the difference between right the law of the land, he is responsible.

Guiteau—I didn't, because my free agency was destroyed.
Second—If the accused knew what he was Second—If the accused knew what he was doing, and that what he was doing was contrary to the law of the land, it constitutes no defense, even if it were true, that when he committed the act he really believed he was thereby producing public benefit, or carrying out an inspiration of Divine origin or approval; such belief would not afford any experience of the contract of the cont cuse, nor would such excuse be afforded by the fact that in the commission of the act he was impelled by a depraved moral sense, whether innate or acquired, or by evil passion r indifference to moral obligations. Guiteau—All of which is false.

Third—Insanity would, however, constitute a defense if any diseased mind accused at the time of committing the act charged did not know what he was doing, or if he did know what he was doing, did not know it was contrary to law. Guiteau—I had no choice in the matter. Fourth—The only evidence in the present case tending to show an irresistible impulse to commit the homicide is the claim of the accused that his free agency was destroyed by his alleged conviction that the death of the President was required for the good of the American people, and was divinely inspired; but such conviction, even if it really existed, could not afford any excuse when the party knew what he was doing, and that it was conknew what he was doing, and that it was contrary to law. No mere delusion or error of jugment, not even a fixed belief that what was provided by law was commanded or apwayed by Divine authority—

Can exempt the accused from responsibility for breaking the law. To have such effect the commission of the act charged must have been the result of an insane delusion, which was the product of a desire, and of such force as to deprive the accused of the degree of reason necessary to distinguish between right and wrong in respect of the act. He either did not know what he was doing, or if he did, that the act was wrong and contrary to the Most of the coal used in the city, prior to the introduction of the Clipper brand, was higher priced than wood, and its consumption a matter of much greater cost. It is used at the International Hotel in ranges, stoves and grates, and the saving there is estimated at about 33\frac{1}{3} per cent., as against the best wood. At the flouring-mills of C. McCreary & Co. many car-loads of it have been consumed, and it is found to give as good results as wood, and at a less cost. It has had a working test at the City Water Works; it has been successfully used in the furnaces of churches; the Telegraph planing-mills used it under its boilers, and a second order for it is the result. At of the coal on delivery, and in furnace, grate and range, and of the results of its combus-tion, develops these facts. It is a lignite coal. For domestic purposes it burns to an ash, and loes not coke, and it kindles very easily. Under boilers where there is a powerful draf it forms a clinker, but it is a clay clinker and not objectionable. It is a clean coal, and has the minimum of dust. Its use, as against wood, shows it to result in a saving of from 38 to 40 per cent. It has had a severe and extended test in the boiler-room of the Record Union office, and the result is about 40 bed of glowing coals; while on the other hand it may be burned in any grate as wood may be, for the heat is not concentrated upon the grate or furnace plates to their destruction. It is a fact that to-day thousands of people are within a foot of the grave and they do not know it. To tell how I was caught away from just this position and to warn others against nearing it, are my objects in this communication. residence in this city surrounded by my friends and waiting for death. Heaven only knows the agony I then endured, for words can never describe it. And yet, if a few years previous, any one had told me that I was to be brought so low, and by so terrible a disease, I should have scoffed at the idea. Very many people who read this statement will realize at times that they are unusually tired, and cannot account for it. They feel dull and indefinite pains in various parts of the body and do not understand it. Or they are exceedingly hungry one day Or they are exceedingly hungry one day and a second order for it is the result. At the Phoenix flouring mills it is in satisfactory use. Local coal-dealers report it as being used now in many homes, both for the kitchen and the grate, and that the demand increases. A few find fault with it, but the complaint is no more general than prevails at times against other coals, for what pleases the many is not always satisfactory to all. Yet I had no idea, even as a physician, that these things meant anything serious or that a monstrous disease was becoming fixed upon me. There is a terrible future for all physical neglect, and impending danger usually brings a person to his senses, even though it may then be too late. I realized, at last, my critical condition and aroused myself to overcome it. And, oh! how hard I tried! I consulted the best nedical skill in the land. I visited all the prominent mineral springs in America and traveled from Maine to California. Still I grew worse. No two physicians agreed as to my malady. One said I was troubled with spinal irritation; another, nervous prostration; another, malaria; another, dyspessia: spinal irrication; another, hervoids prostra-tion; another, malaria; another, dyspepsia; another, heart disease; another general de-bility; another, congestion of the base of the brain; and so on through a long list of common diseases, the symptoms of all of which I really had. In this way several years passed, during all of which time I was steadily growing worse. My condition had really become pitiable. The slight symptoms I at first experienced wave developed into tarrible and perienced were developed into terrible and constant disorders—the little twigs of pain W. R. S. My life was a torture to myself and friends. I could retain no food upon my stomach, and lived wholly by injections. I was a living mass of pain. My pulse was uncontrollable. In my agony I frequently feil upon the floor, convulsively clutched the carpet, and prayed for death. Morphine had little or ne effect in deadening the paia. For six days and nights I had the death-premonitory hiccoughs constantly. My urine was filled with tube casts and albumer. I was struggling with

Bright's disease of the kidneys in its last stages.

While suffering thus I received a call from my pastor, the Rev. Dr. Foote, rector of St. Paul's Church, of this city. I felt that it was our last interview, but in the course of conversation he mentioned a remedy of which I had heard much but had never used. Dr. Foote detailed to me the Fourth Brigade, N. G. C.

So solicitous, however, was Dr. Leank Swift, Jr., who for some months has been specified by the first day of June, and took it according to directions. At first it sickened me; but this I thought was a good sign for one in my debilitated condition. I continued to take it; the sickening sensation departed, and I was able to retain food upon my stomach. In a few days I noticed a decided change for the better, as also did my wife and friends. My hiccoughs ceased and I experienced less pain than formerly was so rejoiced at this improved condition that, upon what I had believed but a few days before was my dying bed, I vowed, in the presence of my family and friends, should stant from that time, and in less than three months I had gained 26 pounds in flesh, be-

Since my recovery I have thoroughly reinvestigated the subject of kidney difficulties and Bright's disease, and the truths developed are astounding. I therefore state, deliberately and as a physician, that I believe more than one-half the deaths which occur in America are caused by Bright's disease of the kidneys. This may sound like a rash state. DEAR BITTERS—I am here trying to breathe in all the salt air of the ocean, and having been a sufferer for more than a year with a refractory liver, I was induced to mix Hop Bitters with the sea gale, and have found the tincture a glorious result. * * * I have been greatly helped by the Bitters, and am not afraid to say so. Yours without a struggle,

It is impossible for a woman after a faithful course of treatment with Lydia E. Pink-ham's Vegetable Compound, to continue to suffer with a weakness of the uterus. Inclose a tamp to Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, No. 233 Western Avenue, Lynn, Mass., for her ley. It was dammed up in a narrow gorge, and the whole valley, several miles in length and a mile wide, was thus floode l. I consider
